Biographical Sketch:

A renowned historian, sociologist and political scientist, Iliya Harik was born in Dhour el-Shweir, Lebanon, in 1934. He received his B.A. and M.A. from the American University of Beirut in 1956 and 1958 respectively. He studied for one year at the London School of Economics and then received his Ph.D. from the University of Chicago in 1964. He then moved to Indiana University where he worked through the ranks to become a full Professor of Political Science. His research areas were comparative politics, political development, and Middle Eastern politics. He taught at Indiana University, the American University of Beirut, the Lebanese American University, and Cornell University. A prolific author, he published several books and articles, including: Politics and Change in a Traditional Society, Princeton University Press, 1968; Privatization and Liberalization in the Middle East, Bloomington Indiana University Press, 1992; Political Mobilization of Peasants: A Study of an Egyptian Community in 1974; and Who Governs Lebanon? (Arabic) in 1972. He assumed the role of Director of the Center of Middle Eastern Studies, 1980-83 at Indiana University, and served in a variety of functions at a number of international organizations, namely: as Director of the American Research Center in Cairo (1990-1992) and as Advisor to the Education and Social Science Program of the Ford Foundation in North Africa (1974-75); as member of the Advisory Board of the Middle East Journal, Washington D.C., in 1997 and as Board member of the Research Council, International Forum for Democratic Studies in 1994. He was the recipient of numerous grants, including a Postdoctoral grant at the American Research Center in Egypt. Following his passing in 2007, the Iliya F. Harik Memorial Scholarship Fund was established at AUB.
